It is important to note that once the person is “owned” by the “initiator”, the life that was promised under the Declaration of Independence back in 1776 as to “Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness” is now gone forever. The ONLY hope for the person is to free themselves by exposing the “initiator” and the person’s past “indiscretions” and face the consequences of those acts no matter what befalls them. In the case where the “initiator’s” request is refused then the person if possible needs to distance themselves from said “initiator. If that is not possible then the situation becomes increasingly complicated. This book is about what happened to one specific person when he decided not to perform the “indiscretion” in the first place and exposes the “initiator(s).” That person is the author of this book. My particular refusal resulted in subsequently enduring and facing for over 22 years the revenge and viciousness of one of the initiators namely Monte W. Green, a neighbor of mine from Miami, Florida. This was and is being accomplished by Green utilizing his brother, Steven J. Green’s “owned” politicians and/or public officials to discredit and destroy my life in every manner possible. Green even attempted to murder me himself, and orchestrated scenarios for one or more other individuals to do the same.
